Middlebury Upsets Trinity

Trinity Campus

The basketball game held at the Trinity Campus was won by the Middlebury College team, 67-51. The game was played before a capacity crowd of 2,500 fans who gave a loud ovation to the visiting team.

Trinity College

The home team, Trinity College, was led by their star center, and the visiting team was a formidable opponent. The game was tightly contested, but in the end, the Middlebury team emerged victorious.

Tostevin and Brown

Elected as Trinity Club Heads

Tostevin and Brown were elected as the new club heads at the Trinity Club meeting. The election was held in a secret ballot and was a close contest.

Trin Averages 12.6

Students Per Prof:

Econ Leaders Leads Majors

Trinity College has maintained high academic standards and has consistently ranked among the top universities in the country. The college prides itself on providing a well-rounded education to all of its students.

Corbisiero Sparks

Panthers Victory

The Middlebury team, under the leadership of Coach Corbisiero, emerged victorious in a hard-fought battle against the Trinity team. The game was filled with tension and excitement, and the final whistle brought the crowd to its feet in celebration.

---

Sophomore Hop Committee Defends

Actions in Dance Ticket Distribution

Final arrangements have been made for the Sophomore Hop, which will be held at the Hartford Golf Club on November 5, and all the tickets have been sold, according to Jim Curtin, chairman of the committee.

The committee's decision to limit the number of tickets to 100 for the hop, and the method in which they were to be distributed among the fraternity and sorority members, has been the subject of controversy. In explanation of the committee's statement was submitted to the Trinity Daily.

"It is unfortunate that the student Senate's decision to schedule the Sophomore Hop for November 5 made it impossible for the committee to rent a location for the hop, and the resulting shortage of space has forced us to limit the number of tickets to 100," said Curtin.

"Of the 100 couples expected, only 85 were expected to make it to the Hop. The decision to limit the number of tickets was made after careful consideration of the space limitations of the location available for the hop."
A GREAT DAY

A vital day is coming in less than a week, and that is the federal election Tuesday, November 2. All Tripod wishes to remind all Tripod men who are eligible to go to their voting districts if humanity possible, and do their duty as citizens by exercising their privilege of suffrage in a democratic country.

The greater areas of the world and, as is the shame of the day, of the United States, do not allow free choice by the citizens of their government. The lack of institutionalization of the ideals which we as citizens are bound to defend by sacrifices up to and including our lives. We are not plugging a party but an obligation which we, as citizens, owe our country. We have an idealized, apparently without effect, for college free rate on this day always comes from us in neighboring states.

The fact that the college has not, up to press time, granted this does not, in our opinion, excuse a man who can get out to vote from doing so.

The future of this country depends very largely on the responsibility of its citizens. Voting is a privilege, but even more, IT IS AN OBLIGATION.

R.W.H.

Sport Away

To those of us who have been at Trinity since 1948-49, the name of Bobbie Means and marked emergence of school spirit is certainly a gratifying element in our daily existence. There is no balance of student person - for now turning in favor of the non-veteran, most of the latter national election, Tuesday, November 2 has disappeared. The school activities are the healthy thrilling organizations that they used to be.

The program which spaced away, however, are quite a different story as far as team spirit is concerned. Formerly, the Cotton Club was the only group with much support from the stands at, say, Worcester Tech, as it is at a home game. However, there is always a sizable number of supporters who make the trip to the game in action, to say nothing of some of the local people who specialise in an interest in the football team as not. The potential expert is always there but there is no organization which can carry it out onto the gridiron.

That’s why the cheerleaders ought to be taken along on every trip, as part of the team. Up to now they have not done as much as they might have done to increase the bandwagon and resources. This isn’t the best way to handle things, especially if the team is running into trouble and has less than four dollars and five cents.

It ought to be made a permanent policy by the athletic department to book the bandwagon and take along as part of the gridiron. If there isn’t room in the bus, substitute in the private car or two. As a matter of fact, it would also be smart for us to have a Tripod sportswriter to cover the game instead of having him rely on the record of the day’s sports page. If we had a word-of-mouth report, it would be more permanent than the record of the day’s sports page.

Frosthonation

By Jaquie Hopkins

We have decided that we should establish a lottery. The grand prize would go to the man who guesses correctly the amount of people that are going to buy picnic supplies. Some sores, and we are going to throw in five dollars. They’re going to be $1.00 Coin Spinners. (“Now, you too can try the telephone company!”)

In addition to its affinity to picnics, the Northport booth exhibit a marked liking for voluntarily. Some sorrows, and it is the opinion of the writer that the ite was not turned.

The Greater Trinity organization is an indispensable item for the acoustician. There is no use for us to have discovered by browsing through its pages.

As with the periodicals, we wholeheartedly recommend the American Record Guide, undoubtedly the most authoritative magazine devoted to record reviewing. It regularly features articles on the technical as well as the critical side of the business.

Spotting the Play

By Hank Peters

The first item is not of recent vintage, but is expected to prove interesting to the inhabitants of Cool Department, sections A and B. Two weeks ago Saturday late in the evening, a missile was thrown or dropped somewhere on Summit Street. Fortunately, in its descent the missile, which reportedly exploded with a bang, missed the junior class graduating senior.

It was, however, close enough when it hit the walk to succeed in splattering the student with the water in the junior girl’s room. The junior girl, however, was able to receive at least one gash in the region of her head. All through the week, the student had been enjoying her advantageous position for bombardment of pedestrians. It is the opinion of the writer that the site was not selected by the student's choice of "Greeks and Barbarians." Those interested in the incident should look into the matter further, for example, by reading the editorials from the writer or from a designated underclassman.

The events of the past week-end included a trip to Troy, New York, and hence to Poughkeepsie and New York. The second leg, no doubt, the most eventful being accomplished as "the rules of thumb" and containing roughly speaking, that portion of the night bounded by the hours of 11:15 and 5:30 A.M., during which time we were engaged in an interesting and interesting companionship.

One of the oldest organizations on the Trinity campus is the Jesters. Organized under the name of the Trinity College Drama Club in 1947, its avowed purpose, according to the Trinity Tablet of that year, was the "cultivation of dramatic talent, intellectual improvement, and the entertainment of ourselves and others." On December 8, 1841, the organization adopted the name of the Jesters.

The organization died out about the year 1900, but it was revived in 1914 with Mrs. Henry Perkins, wife of Professor Perkins of the Physics Department, as director. Richard Bartholome, ’37, noted actor, was member of the group at that time.

With the coming of the V-Y and the 1918-19 World War, the Jesters became inactive in 1914 and 1915. In 1916 the group was reorganized with the support of Professor J. Basil McNally of the English Department as director. Their first production was "The Victors," which was given at the Avery Memorial, where all subsequent Jesters productions have been held.

Last year they produced "Dame Without a Manor," and "Men in White in Under Dead." This year’s production, "The Bachelor’s Party," is in its final rehearsals. The Jesters are the envy of all Trinity College for their energy and superb production.

There is one logical time that the novice will pick up a book like H. H. Happen's "Music of Records," and realize that the subject and its cultivation have never been so thoroughly explored as this book is. Happen's appeal is not to those who entirely agree with Happen.

But to the man who has the background of the music, at the point where he is in the mood for some infiltration. This Jesters production promises to provide an interesting modern setting for an old favorite. It is the opinion of the writer that the ite was not turned.

The Jesters, governing body of the organization, are awarded a chapter portraying the costumes and tragedy of the "Frosthonation." No one could be more familiar with the organization than the writer of this column.

Trinity Traditions

One of the oldest organizations on the Trinity campus is the Jesters. Organized under the name of the Trinity College Drama Club in 1947, its avowed purpose, according to the Trinity Tablet of that year, was the "cultivation of dramatic talent, intellectual improvement, and the entertainment of ourselves and others." On December 8, 1841, the organization adopted the name of the Jesters.

The organization died out about the year 1900, but it was revived in 1914 with Mrs. Henry Perkins, wife of Professor Perkins of the Physics Department, as director. Richard Bartholome, ’37, noted actor, was member of the group at that time.

With the coming of the V-Y and the 1918-19 World War, the Jesters became inactive in 1914 and 1915. In 1916 the group was reorganized with the support of Professor J. Basil McNally of the English Department as director. Their first production was "The Victors," which was given at the Avery Memorial, where all subsequent Jesters productions have been held.

Last year they produced "Dame Without a Manor," and "Men in White in Under Dead." This year’s production, "The Bachelor’s Party," is in its final rehearsals. The Jesters are the envy of all Trinity College for their energy and superb production.

There is one logical time that the novice will pick up a book like H. H. Happen's "Music of Records," and realize that the subject and its cultivation have never been so thoroughly explored as this book is. Happen's appeal is not to those who entirely agree with Happen.

But to the man who has the background of the music, at the point where he is in the mood for some infiltration. This Jesters production promises to provide an interesting modern setting for an old favorite. It is the opinion of the writer that the ite was not turned.

The Trinity Tripod

Oct. 27, 1948

Inquiring Reporter Seeks Suggestions For Improvements On Football Rallies

Torches Cited As Hazard to City

By John Stewart

Your reporter set off this week to question the multitudes on whether they thought that those annoyances, made improvements on the rallies and in-between evens, presentations at the football games. Everyone thought that maybe the school was very good, but still thought that some improvements could be made. Most of those improvements were of a minor nature but need some food for thought on the part of those who are involved in the rallies. Everyone, we hope.

Jim Pykatt said, "Enough freshmen turn out for the rallies, but there is a definite lack of upperclassmen, particularly among the off-campus group.

Ken Thomas thought that the rallies were just about as good as anyone could expect and therefore could not think of any improvements that could be made.

Dave Hatfield brought out a very good point when he said, "There should be a safety net to guard against the hazard of the torches, which are dangerous to the freshmen and New Zealand around. Otherwise, the rallies are about as good as they can be.

Greg Knapp said, "The one thing that is lacking at the rallies is the spirit of the students, and the lack of turn out from the neutrals and off-campus students.

Bob Thompson thought that the rallies should not be centered so much on "the General." There should be more spirit and more on the unified Trinity spirit.

Greg Knapp said, "We should make the players the center of the rally. We should build up morale by building the rallies around them.

Bob Flaherty brought forth (with his roommate's liberal pleading) that "the library, the Cave, and other hiding places should be made a large attendance at all the rallies. It would be a good idea if we all marched downtown but this would drive off anyone turned out for the party.

Gus Stewart, when interviewed, said that there were three improvements that could be made. "The band should play music, the players should rally the crowd, and the rallies should end with the singing of 'North the Elm.'"

These opinions were in no way meant to be prejudiced in any way, but only to offer some improvements to make them better.

Commons Club Pleads Seven New Men Establishes Its Lunch in Cook A-31

The Trinity Commons Club left its laurels in promoting the pledging of the following men: Kenneth B. Kindt of Danbury; John D. Nicolais of Bristol; Edward J. Ricciardi of Greenwich; Robert C. Rusk of Dighton, Massachusetts; Paul F. Ruth of Saugus, Massachusetts; E. Francis Smith of Lawrence, Massachusetts; and Robert E. Wilcox of Brooklyn, New York.

Last week the Commons Club re-established its Lounge in Cook A-31. In this pleasant room over the arbor which commands a view of the Broad campus and college walk, the members and pledges have been busy scoring, scrapping, and polishing. With Bon Unruh's priceless accoutrements in the fireplace, rugs on the floor, curtains on the windows, and some soporifics (7o) on sitting furniture, the new Lounge will be equipped with "all the comforts of home" (and then some).

On Wednesday, October 29, at the Club's regular weekly meeting, Mr. Laurence, the Chaireman, introduced the guest speaker, talking on "Negro Segregation in the South," warned of the kick and the future, and the students were cordially invited to attend. Really.

To answer questions as to what is the best major subject for a pre-law career, Dean Andrews emphasized that the study of English, both literature and composition, is the most important tool for the study and practice of law. Law is not for the man who wishes to make a great deal of money, he added, nor for the man who wants to have a leisurely profession.

VA Reports 52-20 Club Near Demise As GI Bill Expires

Here are a few important deadlines that veterans and War veteran should keep in mind:

Education and Training

Education or training must be completed no later than July 25, 1949. This exception from the general rule are veterans who enlisted on or after October 6, 1945 and before October 6, 1948 and enlisted in the Merchant Marine under the National Defense Volunteers Voluntary Recruitment Act of 1943. These non-mission deadlines on GI Bill benefits from the date of their discharges, and may start and complete their training later than the veteran.

GI Loans

Veterans may apply for guaranteed or insured GI loans for the purpose of buying or building homes, farms or businesses, up to July 25, 1947.

Rev. Thomas A. Stack Speaks to Newman’s

Rev. Thomas A. Stack, Dean of Student Development at the University of Pennsylvania, spoke at St. Thomas' Seminary in Bloomington, Ill., before the Newman Club meeting held on October 27. The talk was titled "Christianity in the Marketplace." The following is an excerpt from his address:

"The next meeting of the Newman Club will be held on November 25 in Cook Lounge at 8:00 P.M. Election of officers for the coming year will be held at this meeting. All present at the November meeting will be urged to present. As yet the guest speaker for the evening has not been announced, but all students are cordially invited to attend. By the way, the band should play music, the players should rally the crowd, and the rallies should end with the singing of 'North the Elm.'"

Syracuse Dean Andrews Speaks to Legal-Eagles

Dean Paul Shipman Andrews spoke on Monday, October 18, to a group of students who have expressed an interest in the legal profession. Mrs. Andrews stated that the legal profession is crowded, but there are some fields of specialization that could be made.

Frost Griddum Tops Amherst Team 28-0

On Saturday, October 25, the Amherst freshman football team was turned back by the Frost 28-0 in the Hilltopper's first home game.

Dick Allen took Amherst's opening kickoff on Trinity's 39 and returned it to the 41. Sam Nakao then heaved to Gerolak on the Amherst 45, and after a line back good for three yards, Gerolak, shifted his right end for 13 yards. On the next play, with less than two minutes having been consumed in the game, Gerolak, flipped to O'Brien in the end zone for a T. D. Vilbert made the first of his four conversions.

In the second quarter, Nakao issued a pass to Alkins who made a circus catch of it in the end zone for the second score.

Armed had stopped cold after Trinity kicked off to start the second half, and Nakao's punt to Gerolak was fair and the next yard line. Gerolak got an all-out tackle for 14 yards and Damien (Continued on page 8)

If you have admired clothing and furnishings at Shops in New Haven or Cambridge. You would appreciate our fine groups of clothing and accessories.

Henry Miller University Shop
50 FORD STREET, HARTFORD
Near Garde Hotel

Trinity Speech by Mayor from Sicily

The Honorable Sano-Bruno, mayor of Palermo Acreole, Province of Siracusa, Sicily, paid a visit to Trinity College on Wednesday, October 20, and spoke informally to the second year Italian class. The mayor has been staying in Hartford for some time with some relatives and thanks to Mr. Albert Eulino, his visit to the college was arranged.

He spoke in Italian, beginning his talk with a tribute to the Stilling school of poetry which furnished before the time of Dante. He characterized briefly and very feitly a very few of the other great names in Italian literature, and then described the beauty of his own town of Palazaco. He said that its location high in the hills has acquired for it the name of the Queen of the Mountains.

In World War II, Palazzolo was bombed by American flyers, he said, but God has saved the town and it has become a shining beacon in the world.

The mayor was accompanied by his cousin, Mr. Salvatore Carbone of Hartford.

The Bond Press, Inc.

Printers of the Tripod
94 ALLYN STREET — HARTFORD, CONN.
Down Fraternity Row

Delta Psi: Professor Shaw looked up over his desk and said, "Wack was late today to meet his class, to see his Currents Events class out-dooring, and so I had an opportunity to see how he cut拥挤." He continued, "So, this is the opportunity for intellectual advancement..."

In description of Brother Stevens' presentation of "Fraud in Accounting" in Federal Hall, the students were all agitated. Stevens, with such words as "vital" and "alive," always managed to make his listeners realize the importance of their lecture. Professor Thomas, moved by the success of his lecture, decided to invite his listeners to the lecture the next week.

The next day, Brother Stevens was again agitated. He said, "I was late today because I had to meet with the Brotherhood. We are having a meeting tonight to discuss the plans for the next week."

On the way to the meeting, Brother Stevens was again agitated. He said, "I was late today because I had to meet with the Brotherhood. We are having a meeting tonight to discuss the plans for the next week."

The meeting was held at the fraternity house. The brothers were all present, ready to discuss the plans for the next week.

Dr. Dorizas
(Continued from page I.)

Theological warfare. He said that because of this and because Russia was not prepared economically and militarily, he did not see how she could ever win.

Dr. Dorizas said, "Unless we are prepared, we can do nothing. We must not give up Berlin, for Germany will follow and after that Europe."

"I enjoyed many a CHESTERFIELD on the set of my new picture, GOOD SAM. Chesterfield is always MILD... It's MY cigarette."

"Gary Cooper"

Starring in Leo McCarey's Good Sam
An RKO release

Mary Alice Keene, ABC Girl of U. C. L. A. says...

"I smoke Chesterfields because I like the clean, white appearance of the pack and their clean, smooth, MILDER taste."

More college students smoke Chesterfields than any other cigarette... by largest national count

Always CHESTERFIELD.... Make the richest MINDER cigarette... They satisfy.