Tripod Hopes Trinity Men Will Refrain From Like Raids

In the wake of Worcester Tech's withdrawal raid on the Campus last Friday and the subsequent out of the Techies on the field Saturday, at the chant of "You paint, we shovel," President Fenster has released to the Tripod a telegram received about game time from Tech's Proxy. The text follows.

"Deeply deplore vandalism by students of this college on your campus last night. Disciplinary measures will be taken. Please inform me of expense incurred as a result of this attack." December 2, on page 8. W. T. Chester, President, Worcester Polytech Institute."

Dr. Kasner Lectures to Full House on Geometry and Nature

An estimated 200 persons attended the second in the Thursday evening lecture series on Chemistry Auditorium on December 22. The guest lecturer was Ed. Kasner, of Columbia, who delivered the theme of the lecture by exploring the various tracks from the topic of Combinatorial. A recent lecture on humor with his vast knowledge of the subject, Dr. Kasner carried the attention and enthusiasm of his audience.

A Letter from the Cheerleaders

The spirit on the campus has been high and the scores of the football team games have been very high in favor. This is obvious. But this is only a sign of the higher quality of the future of the team. The student of the team to do their very best on the football field, but can the team count on the continued support of the students throughout the remaining games? There are two or three games remaining, and two of them are away from campus, but the team wants to do their best to continue their fine support of the team. The other game will be at home as well as at the games against the Wildcats.

The Varsity 'T' Club has supplied the information that many of their students want to support the team to do their very best on the football field, but can the team count on the continued support of the students throughout the remaining games? There are two or three games remaining, and two of them are away from campus, but the team wants to do their best to continue their fine support of the team. The other game will be at home as well as at the games against the Wildcats.

Harvard Reviews Jesters In 'French Without Tears'

Bob Vogel's Jesters have a knuckle of suspending themselves by their heads to set the pace for French Without Tears is a sparkling comedy by Terrence Rattigan whose talents run the gamut from the french bacchante to the New York audiences cheering on their feet. Rattigan is a fast rule writer who deserves his Pulitzer, and in the Jesters that is exactly what he has. The Jesters have the verse and ability to express their feelings from Congreve to Love's Labour's Lost; Sophocles to Edgar Lee. As a matter of fact, we'd like to see them do it. For, this time the Jesters are not only impressive, but a very fair version of a modern Greek, sort of, well adapted to the peculiarities of Admiral Hall, the next to last Jester in our review. The Jesters places the audience on three sides of the action, it is very good, very effective, and very funny. And between them and the Jesters and the audience.

Joyce Brush does an inspired job as Diana Lake, Rattigan's lady of the piece, a sophisticated, bitchy young womanhood, whose efforts to ensnore the Hen, Alan Howard (Lesley Mitchell), Kit Newman (Douglas Cannon) and Robert Custer (Sam Ramsey) is pretty well. These three the dialogue back and forth with a sophistication and polish that is urban in college dramatics.

Joe Hyde was absolutely first rate as Ms. Maitland, the competent, quick-witted French tutor. Joe rendition of a hung-over Frenchman, in French could have been a setting for the whole evening. Some of the jokes brush with reason and good sense. Well, the most sensible thing we could say would be this: If you haven't yet seen the Jesters, go see them. On Thursday next or Friday Saturday and enjoy a fine play, well handled.

Incidental Info

By Pfc. J. Tertius drksks, 51

I have just received through diligent channels which allow me to read the Tripod without the customary hour of waiting for dispatch. In the case of XLVIIth volume; where I expected to have hot Dalier centering down my strong bronzy cheeks, and chills of homesickness galloping up and down my thin muscular vertical side, I found nought but irritation.

The trouble with the Tripod is always that it never had enough news to fill the space, and yet I can remember people scrambling around on Sunday night wishing to get the------------- but not to get the all the good articles (namely mine).

The columns in which I think you'll have to admit, why not cut down all the required (or at least the insignificant) stuff to a telegraphic minimum, at least to a page, which would otherwise be filled with unpromising columns.

The trouble is, for one thing, that by some alumnos who once met President Harding in his class, I cannot send the material to the necessary people, and you'll have three and a half pages to throw around gleefully, if you don't count this.

Let's say we put the Chesterfield ad and Prateriter Boys together and lump everything into the first page, you have two and a half pages. On one half of the front page (the half left over), you can put pictures of animals with the captions made by administrative members who look like them, or better yet, vice-versa. Anyway, it is a big enough column to have a certain gravity this as far I know it has never had.

On page two, there are several improvements that I think the Tripod could do without: for one thing, why not cut down all the required (or at least the insignificant) stuff to a telegraphic minimum, at least to a page, which would otherwise be filled with unpromising columns.

For another thing, why not cut down all the required (or at least the insignificant) stuff to a telegraphic minimum, at least to a page, which would otherwise be filled with unpromising columns.

This week I'm trying to please the Feature Editor for a change. Since usually end up the week racing down to the Tripod office a few seconds before the deadline, I have been the cause of great consternation on the part of Mr. Mitchell who needs these missives as filler for the feature page. So I'm writing this today in advance of the weekend and therefore I make no claim to the timeliness of my subjects.

With the football team rolling along on their impressive way, we make take a moment to pause and ponder the football situation. When one considers football, one thinks of relative scores so putting two and two together we apply this interesting past (relative scores) to the Trinity team and we come out with this interesting perspective.

Letters To The Editor

After four weeks of reader silence, Triod subscribers cut loose with the greatest barrage of criticism ever since the war with two attacks on different subjects. In this column we shall attempt to present in the letters and the staff's reply and, if possible, a balanced view.

In the first letter Raymond W. Hal., Jr., writing for the entire staff of the Delta Delta Delta Sorority, is vocally frequent complaint about Dowt; the RoE, charging that it is in "written in a biased and confused manner," and calling for "equal representation for and against each fraternity" by a "return to the original makeup of this column." He goes on to point out two specific instances of omission or alteration in copy submitted to the present editor, including one instance on the matter that had been discussed with Twitch, the issue of October 12.

The new setup in the Fraternity column is the responsibility of the Executive Board, not of Twitch, and was undertaken in the desire to have a unified social column in place of the rather disorganized Sunday night fare on the Trifod, for the sake of keeping a certain continuity, and because of mutual misunderstanding of the plans for the new deadline. The first few columns have frequently omitted various houses, and because of space, of gigs. Twitch has been forced to condense to some extent on account of the space available, and it has been altered in this column the blame must reside on Twitch or the original writer, and the failure to make his point clear. The subject has been treated at random and fertility sentiment is still with the old form, but have concluded that the next few issues shall be testing ground for the new system. After a period of students' confusion, we are beginning to understand which is the right path to follow. We stress here, however, that the Board feels that once smoothly worked out in this department, the column will be far more socially and journalistically if written by anyone but Twitch.

The second letter, from Mr. Edward Ward, contains a blanket criticism of the Board's actions. Mr. Ward says that as far as he is concerned, we will summarize his charges, then defend ourselves against the preceding one.

His first page states, "The Tripod is a disgrace to Trinity College," the second, "The Tripod is a disgrace to Trinity College." The first page acknowledges that the page is biased and confused, and calls for "equal representation of all fraternities," and then states that the Tripod is a disgrace to Trinity College. The second page also states that the Tripod is a disgrace to Trinity College, and calls for "equal representation of all fraternities." The third page criticizes the Board for not allowing the Tripod to represent all fraternities, and states that the Tripod is a disgrace to Trinity College.

Passing from this rather severe inferences to some concrete charges, Mr. Ward questions the wisdom of running a picture of the Whims on their week's front pages, saying, "who gives a damn?" He concludes by asking about the front page makeup, and asking that the Board consider changing it.

From this page, the writer questions the wisdom of running a picture of the Whims on their week's front pages, saying, "who gives a damn?" He continues by asking about the front page makeup, and asking that the Board consider changing it.

The front page makeup is squeezed, and numerous items are on the front page simply because there was no place else for them. Advertising sales dictate the number of pages in the Tripod, and when we run four pages many stories in this type are forced onto the front page. The front page makeup must run as our lease because we had one for the lead the previous week, and wished to cut in variety into our makeup. With the Tripod's Sunday deadlines we are forced to rely on future news, such as the Zetters' production, or announcements of the college such as the change in requirements, which are to be coincided with the Tripod's publication.

The "tome 'Moe' Doris of Hartford" is one of the chief sportswriters for the college and the "silly feud" was initiated by him. The coverage of the Gizmo contest was very poor, and for this we apologize.

Freshman Violators to Be Beat Drums

24 Hours Before Wes Game

On Tuesday evening, October 28, the Sophomore Court convened for the second time to meet in justice to those freshmen who were reported for violations of the rules applying to their class. Fifteen men were haled before the court, presided over by sophomore class president Fred Callan. Chief prosecutor Tony Steve was on the dramatic side, with the headliners: "two of them were found guilty of talking back to an upperclassman in addition to not wearing his "dink.""

After their testimony was heard, the court decided for some time before deciding the fifteen men were guilty. Fourteen were sentenced subject to approval by Dean Clarke, to beat a drum, in shifts, from two o'clock in the afternoon and back to 11, through the night, till two o'clock the following afternoon. The tenth man, besides being sentenced to the above, was also "reprimand" to produce three-by-five-foot signs for the remaining home football games.

Dorman, Higgenbotham VanLoon Head Boosters

An active organization on campus is the Boosters Club, which was organized with the intention of boosting the spirit of the college. To attain this goal, the Club gives dances, all of which are open to the entire student body, and annual faculty teas, in addition to smokers at which the members of the Club, their friends, and the faculty become better acquainted.

The Club's most recent activity was the issuing of mattresses for the freshman dormitory rooms. In December, the Club will give its annual Christmas concert in the gym. The following spring, the Club hopes to purchase new equipment for the basketball team.

The officers of the Club are Jim Van Loon, president; Ken Higgenbotham, vice president; and Bryan Dorman, secretary. Other members include Bill Gannon, Bill Kiefer, John Segall, John Naeseth, Bernie Lawlor, Ed Ludorf, Sam Nahnau, and Bob O'Brien.

Edward A. Kelley, Treasurer

Holding down the post of Treasurer is a cheerful young man, Eddie Kelley, who calls Beers his home. He came here from Clinton, New Jersey, as an associate member of the Debating Society and managed the Bald during 1948-49. He is an active member of the Trinity Debate Board, and represented Trinity at the recent Epi­ copal Youth Conference in San Fran­ cisco. Contrary to opposition reports, he believes that women have a place in college life. He is a philo­ sopher major.

Swimmers Prepare For Fall Season

Clarke Enthusiastic As Talks Begin

Tuesday, October 18, the College's swimming team reported for its first practice session of the year. Twenty-three candidates, including many who were trying for varsity spots, hope to better last year's record of three wins against four losses. In 1948-49, the Trinity swimmers lost meets with Amherst, Wesleyan, Bowdoin, and M. I. T., while defeating Union and the University of Rochester. The season opens on December 16 when the Bantams and Grizzlies face off against Bates U. The schedule includes I. T. E., Bowdoin, Waverley Truch, Amherst, Hamilton, Brown, and Yale. The squad will also enter in the new year's New England Intercollegiate swimming meets, at M. I. T.

A Junior Squad

The Trin swimmers, this year, are merely juniors who were on the squad last season. The team has been strengthened by the addition of last year's erudite freshman team, which included all five seniors, and by the addition of three sophomores, a first to the Trin squad. Because last year's team included only one sophomore, the pool of available swimmers is still small, but not so small as to make the season an easy one for the swimmers. On the other hand, the team has lost many of its best swimmers, and many of those who remain are still in need of training. Nevertheless, the team is optimistic about its chances for success, and is working hard to prepare for the new season.

The Freshman Squad

The freshmanquad also began its training on October 18, and has already shown signs of promise. The team is composed of twelve men, and is expected to do well in its first year of competition. The freshmen are being trained to swim the backstroke, breast stroke, and the butterfly, and are being taught to work together as a team. The freshmen are also being taught to swim in a group, so that they can learn to swim in a group, and to work together as a team.

The Sophomore Squad

The sophomore squad is also making good progress. The team is composed of seven men, and is expected to do well in its second year of competition. The sophomores are being trained to swim the backstroke, breast stroke, and the butterfly, and are being taught to work together as a team. The sophomores are also being taught to swim in a group, so that they can learn to swim in a group, and to work together as a team.

The Junior Squad

The junior squad is also making good progress. The team is composed of five men, and is expected to do well in its third year of competition. The juniors are being trained to swim the backstroke, breast stroke, and the butterfly, and are being taught to work together as a team. The juniors are also being taught to swim in a group, so that they can learn to swim in a group, and to work together as a team.

The Senior Squad

The senior squad is also making good progress. The team is composed of three men, and is expected to do well in its final year of competition. The seniors are being trained to swim the backstroke, breast stroke, and the butterfly, and are being taught to work together as a team. The seniors are also being taught to swim in a group, so that they can learn to swim in a group, and to work together as a team.

The Freshman Quads

The freshman quads are also making good progress. The team is composed of four men, and is expected to do well in its first year of competition. The freshmen are being trained to swim the backstroke, breast stroke, and the butterfly, and are being taught to work together as a team. The freshmen are also being taught to swim in a group, so that they can learn to swim in a group, and to work together as a team.

The Sophomore Quads

The sophomore quads are also making good progress. The team is composed of three men, and is expected to do well in its second year of competition. The sophomores are being trained to swim the backstroke, breast stroke, and the butterfly, and are being taught to work together as a team. The sophomores are also being taught to swim in a group, so that they can learn to swim in a group, and to work together as a team.

The Junior Quads

The junior quads are also making good progress. The team is composed of two men, and is expected to do well in its third year of competition. The juniors are being trained to swim the backstroke, breast stroke, and the butterfly, and are being taught to work together as a team. The juniors are also being taught to swim in a group, so that they can learn to swim in a group, and to work together as a team.

St. As' Lead In Football and Tennis
Brownells Bow In Both Sports 7-0; 5-0

CROWS, TRITA XI, ST. ANTHONYS WIN

In touch football this week five clashes were recorded. On Oct. 24 the Crows downed the J-Jox 7-0; The J-Jox, league winners last year, have lost many key players since then and as a result have not come up with the same winning results.

On the 20th of October there were three games played. Theta Xi got back into the winning ways with a 7-0 win over Northampton, while Delta Phi was busy fighting the rebels from Jarvis South 7-0. The final game of the afternoon saw the Dekas win over the Jarvis North Yachts, 7-0.

The men from the hill, St. Anthony Hall, knocked over their big rivals, the Brownells, 7-0, to keep a commanding lead in the intramural race. St. A.'s has the best outfit to date of all the clubs participating, and is definitely the team to watch for the remainder of the year.

On the clay courts only three matches were played this week. The 24th of October saw St. Anthony Hall's return match the football team's win over the Brownells by trimming them 5-0.

On the 25th of October, the boys from Alpha Delta Phi lowered the boom on the hapless Commons Club 5-0. The last recorded triumph of the week was a 5-4 win over Jarvis South turned in by Delta Phi on Oct. 27.

Major Ed Wall, Harvard '40

Flying Executive, U.S. Air Force!

Born in Newark, N. J., he moved to Boston at an early age, graduated from the public Latin high school in 1919, entered Harvard the same year, where he majored in economics and government.

"Active on the campus" — he played football, earned his letter on the boxing team. He worked part-time in a variety of jobs from bouncer to baby sitter, received his AB degree in 1940.

Assigned to anti-sub patrolled duty, he flew B-24's and B-17's before going overseas in 1944, where he flew 30 missions as a B-24 pilot. Shot down over Germany, he was a prisoner of war for 3 months, back in the States with his English wife, he earned his Regular commission. Then he returned to Harvard under the Air Force college training program, receiving his LLB degree in 1949.

Back in the States with his English wife, he earned his Regular commission. Then he returned to Harvard under the Air Force college training program, receiving his LLB degree in 1949.

Now, he is confident about his future and security. As a pilot and legal officer of Balling Air Force Base, D.C., Major Ed Wall is definitely the type of officer needed to fly on long-range missions, and is the type of officer needed to run the Air Force's many domestic bases.

He enrolled in Harvard Law School, left at the beginning of the war to become an Air Force Cadet. In December, 1942, he won his pilot's wings, received a Reserve commission as Second Lieutenant.

give. Apparently the sports and news staffs each relied on the other to handle the contest.
The suggestion of a "page of pictures after each weekend" is dealt with in today's editorial. Suffice it to say here that such a move would soon bankrupt us. And for treatment of the inadequacy found by Mr. Ward in Hamstew, Hopkins, column and all of his suggestions concerning better writing, seeking of news, and making up, we refer you to the editorial column on page two.

The Greek ideal of nothing in excess was the fundamental order for the weekend. The brethren quietly watched the Trinity machine break
the scoreboard again - consistent victory smiles being the only outward sign of that Bostian spirit. In fact it was the complaint of some that it was just terrible that they had to jump up and down so much when Tri cored another touchdown - and then to have to stand up and sing Fight Trinity so many times was just too
too - too. Then at the rally on Friday, one house had not a single representative while another was supported by one lone voice. One of the comments concerning this pleasing business was that it would improve one hundred per cent if each house could sit together at the game. As we all know roping off sections for a particular house at the game is banned by the athletic administration. The Deke, however, despite of binding their straw hats together, smeared over in the early hours of the morning and seized one section close to the reserved seats on the fifty yard line. Now this was just not kosher, and the other groups who walked in and sat on the Deke straw hats were definitely in the right. But it is my humble opinion that the freteriors, as the fresnost, should be ab-lished to sit together and have special sections for each game. The seating arrangement should, of course, be one of those revolving affairs so that each house and the neutrals would have the opportunity to gain choice seats for at least one of the contests. Maybe this would interfere with the alumni seating plan, but as far as I am concerned, that is all well and good.
If everyone desires the student body to do a bit of yelling why don't they permit students to sit in a body in a special section which is not placed in a minute corner of the field, as was the case until last week with the Frosh.

Oh yes, I received a note from the Blue and Gold federated Tau Alphas to day which mentioned that Paul Marte and Bill (Boot) Vibert were now full-folded brothers. Congratulations is also in order for Norwalk's gift to the business world, Hank Palau. Hank is now the proud holder of the Tau Alphaurger. Congratulations is also
