"La Tosca" and "La Scala" at Busnell
By James H. Bourne

Two singers of the Metropolitan Opera, Reginald Bibba in the title role of "La Tosca" and Ferragamo Tagliavini in the title role of "La Scala," joined, opened the local season with Puccini's "La Tosca," at the Busnell Memorial Theater, on October 23, at the Busnell Memorial.

The two personalities striking and handsome in their costumes, Mme. Bibba gave her role the vocalization, characterization, and dramatic realism and sensitivity which are outstanding characteristics of Puccini Tosca. She did not overdo the part, but used her voice to bring her character's emotions and actions to life. Bibba's vocalization was free and strong. She is very comfortable in the role of the part we have heard. Her high C's in the third and third acts were beautifully accentuated and her singing of "Vissi d'arte" was an unqualified success, her Bibba dominated, both physically and vocally, every scene.

Mr. Carovassano, Tagliavini was acting in a role that has long been a test of his vocal resources. He has his vocalization irregular, breaking at times in the arioso passages and forced to low in atonalizations. Although he is an excellent operatic actor, someone of more prepossessing visual appeal, and who could possibly cast in Tosca and Carovassano appear together next season. When the tenor was able to belt Miss, his vocalization was splendid. The great show of the first act was all right, but when he was forced to sing his full height, Tagliavini was a disappointment.

George Chapplekis, in the role of Baron Scarpia, is on the whole a convincingly dramatic creation. Bibba's art, however, his baritone was not commanding enough to carry the role to the full feeling of one of the most important scenes in Tosca in Toscan and Carovassano appear together next season. When the tenor was able to belt Miss, his vocalization was splendid. The great show of the first act was all right, but when he was forced to sing his full height, Tagliini was a disappointment.

The soprano was acting in a role that has long been a test of his vocal resources. He has his vocalization irregular, breaking at times in the arioso passages and forced to low in atonalizations. Although he is an excellent operatic actor, someone of more prepossessing visual appeal, and who could possibly cast in Tosca and Carovassano appear together next season. When the tenor was able to belt Miss, his vocalization was splendid. The great show of the first act was all right, but when he was forced to sing his full height, Tagliini was a disappointment.

Mr. White was playing the role of Scarpia, and his vocalization was irregular, breaking at times in the arioso passages and forced to low in atonalizations. Although he is an excellent operatic actor, someone of more prepossessing visual appeal, and who could possibly cast in Tosca and Carovassano appear together next season. Korea Today! Among More than 600 New Books in Library
By Ed Jaeger

The Trinity College library has added over 600 new books to its collection during September and October. The present total exceeds 25,000, of which over 9,000 are reference books. Among the most recent acquisitions are: "George Adams, Reference Librarian, are: Korea Today!" by George Marshall, which gives the historical background of Korea, its international affairs since 1912, problems and production in agriculture—industry—labor, its economic policy, and the economic and political aspects of its future.

"A Primer of Book-collating" by John Tracy Winternitz is planning to build up a personal library. The Popularity Book" by James David Hart, which gives the history of America's literary tastes and the social history of the times with the most popular books for each year. "Order of Slavery" by Otto L. Higginbotham are issues of a man who went over to the concentration camps in Germany. The Human Use Human Being" by Norbert Wiener, which also wrote "Cybernetics" which created such a sensation last year. "Effects of Atomic Weapons" a United States Government presentation, giving an explanation of the atomic bomb directly from the Scientific Laboratory, Los Alamos, New Mexico. The Portable Thomas Wolle which is one of a portable library's, each volume is a selection of works of a different author. "The Devil" by David Pablo Bareyer, which tells the stories of men who were conscripted to the concentration camps in Germany and interviewed the people. "Reflections of a Wandering Jew" by Morris Raphael Cohen, which deals with the beliefs of the American Jew. "The Marshall Fields" by John Tjabul which gives an examination of the men who have become the Marshall Field—what they were—and what status were they in the society in which they lived. Air ROTC Schedules Rifle Matches With Leading University ROTC Rifle Teams
By John Rosser

The lowering of the campus flag to the sound of Retreat marked the first organized drill of the year for the student corps at the Trinity ROTC at Trinity. Air Force ROTC, cadet W. Nimitz inspected the first honor guard presented by Air ROTC cadets at the South Walk entrance to the Chemistry Auditorium on the following Friday evening. These two additional exhibitions are not indications of a stepped up program on the part of the Trinity cadet corps for the year 1940-1941. In addition to usual participation in intra-mural sports, the Air ROTC team under the direction of Capt. W. St. Crowe is scheduled to fire matches in competition with leading university ROTC rifle teams, its first match to be with the holders of the National Heath Trophy at Columbia. A special exhibition Drill Team under the direction of Clayton Clough is preparing itself to participate in military affairs throughout this area; it will also be available for exhibitions at various colleges during intermission or during holidays. Plans are being made by the cadet council for the annual Military Ball to be held in December. The first of Trinity’s Military Balls was held last Tuesday, and the high point of those all present a great social success. The Air Groups’ participation in public parades and other downtown events to be announced later in the year is expected to continue as usual.
The Tripod Sports Department wishes to congratulate the Trinity soccer team on its successful season to date. The soccer team has yet to lose a game and continued its winning ways last Saturday with a beautiful shut-out of the University of Massachusetts. Speaking of shutouts, the goal for that game was Lou Raden who played his first game of the season for Trinity since he broke his thumb in the practice contest against Williams. Welcome back, Lou! Your absence was greatly missed. The postgame "Sports Quiz" we asked who the goal was that shutout Yale in last year's thriller. The answer we gave was: Lou Raden, who when he was healthy, clearly Raden played most of the game. Congratulations are also in order to Pat Seitz who filled in so capably while Lou was out.

Still on the soccer front, your editor received a letter this week from Steve Plam, '84, criticizing the coverage given to the soccer game against Tufts in the last issue. Steve, you know that we always try to give the most accurate and impartial coverage despite the fact that it was written just days before the game and do willingly admit that it was our fault for not arranging with our soccer sources an easy-to-follow method of procuring information on away games. We think that the situation will be rectified in the future. We hope that Steve and the rest will bear with us; we will make the necessary changes and we think you will be happy that we have improved our soccer coverage in this issue.

We always glad to see the team anyone who has read the Tripod whether it be praise or criticism. Only through your pointing out our faults can we improve our paper; so keep those letters coming.

Like a Rubber Ball

It was heartening to see that our varsity football team bounced back from the defeat at the hands of Colby two weeks ago and come from behind to subdue Wesleyan by two touchdowns. This elasticity goes to prove that a free team Trinity really has even more than if we had lost that game. By the way, if any one wants to hear an interesting discourse on football officializing with Methodists who are accompanying the letter, just drop down and see Dax.Jones.

Lou Raden was the boy who guided the Bantams to victory this time; nice going, Ed.

Question for the Day

What’s going to happen to Bronch Richley now that he has "resigned" from the Dodgers and will there be a new manager in Brooklyn this summer?

What Do You Think?

It was brought to our attention that recently in the expatriate writing that there is a bias on the part of the Tripod. In this theme he compartmentalized the sports section because it was bringing forth different types of articles between basketball and soccer. We also believe that this sport writing, in general, would be greatly improved if the sports jargon, i.e., words like hoopsters, quintet, graders, initial press, etc., were omitted. Our answer is contained in the following paragraphs that attempts to rectify this lack of staff never again appears.

"The Trinity College Basketball Team Handily Whipped the Ixyan College Boys and Finished Its Season with Two Straight Wins. The first win was over Wesleyan on December 14, 1970, and the second over Tufts the following week. In each of these games, Trinity was able to maintain its winning streak through the fourth quarter, leading its team to an undefeated season for the Trinity Men’s Basketball Team, which won the Staggers Symposium Championship in its first year. The Staggers, founded by the brothers of Staggers, and who are the parents of the late Staggers, were the first team to win the tournament. The Trinity Men’s Basketball Team finished the season with an unblemished record of 16-0, defeating their opponents by an average margin of 30 points. The team was led by star player, Dave Hatfield, who set a new record for most points scored in a single game with 32 points.

Unbeaten Amherst to Play Trinity At Harvard on November Eleventh

Lord Jeffs, Having Beaten Colby, Will Be Real Test

In its homecoming game on November 11th, Trinity will play host to an unbeaten Amherst eleven. Those teams have won all their games this year, and Lord Jeffs include Colby, Bowdoin, Coast Guard and Chippewas.

Amherst's record is due in a large part to the passing combination of Jim May and Bud Brown. In their third year of varsity ball McGraw is rated as one of the best offensive defensive backs. Their running and defensive weakness is in the offensive ends in the East while quarterback Davidson is no less formidably equipped than the single tackle suffered a severe jolt, however, so McGraw has not entirely employed his talent.

The two seniors who captain the Trinity varsity football team are the same as last year. Jay Gavin will open the season as a passer and kicker, and star runner Jake Jordan, last year's great middle linebacker, will again carry the load. The captains are 192 pounds and 5 feet, 11 inches, and the former last year was the big man. This year Amherst, which has won four in the former loop, is expected to be able to make the grade. The Hilltoppers are trailing in this ancient rivalry which began in 1896. Trinity has won 12 games against 24 losses and 9 ties. However, the last two years saw the Blue and Gold victorious and the team is out to make it three in a row.

In last year's contest, the Bantams were defeated by a score of 21-6. Held scoreless for the entire first half, the Trinmen came back with pressures in the fourth quarter when Bill Vickers kicked the extra points. Tom McPallie and Bill Goralicky both scored on long runs of 50 and 60 yards and Bill Pitkin snared a Sivaslian pass for the other T.D.

Lord Jeffs, Having Beaten Colby, Will Be Real Test

Freshman Football Team Edges Monson By 14-12 Score; Anderson Tallies All Points As Frosh Win First Game

Add 2 Extra Points After Crossing Goal Line Twice

By John Davenport

Surprising the cold and an ample amount of passers the Hilltoppers broke their jinx and humiliated an unbeaten Monson Academy team by the count of 14 to 12. The outcome was due largely to the fact that the victors were able to cash in on a series of breaks during the second and fourth quarters.

The Academy boys set out to make the Trini men eat humble pie immediately after the kickoff. With Smith and Pier's leading the way the boys in blue put on a sustaining drive that ended over the goal line. Smith set the score up by sweeping left end for 35 yards and plunging to the 3. He bumbled his way over on the next play.

On receiving the ball the Frosh proceeded to emulate their rivals by marching steadily down the field. The drive was put to an abrupt halt however when the ball popped out of Silvaslian's hands. Monson appeared to have lost their spark when they received possession and were forced to kick. History began to repeat itself again as the Bantams launched another penetrating series. It also ended in almost exactly the same way as a Monson defender snared a Bantam pass. This proved to be the foundation of the golden boys' first touchdown of the year.

Finding themselves unable to make headway the Monson squad was forced to kick. Trinity's Crescent had other ideas however, he heaved into the wind and partially blocked it. Anderson was waiting under it and tested over the chunky Middletown blonde then booted the first of his two extra points.

With Smith and Pier's carry gaining the mail the prep school squad found the range in the third period and the latter carried it over. With this score in hand Amherst had the confidence to continue on for the winning tally in the fourth quarter. The freshman football team encountered Amherst College in its next game, on Saturday, November 4.

Intramural Football

The intramural football race is slowly drawing to a close and an exciting finish is guaranteed. Three teams remain undefeated: The Brownell Club, the dark horse of the race, has won five games and holds a slight lead over Sigma Nu which has won four, in the Nottoway end in the Invitational League. The Dukes are the only undefeated team in the loop, and the schedule in the former loop is scheduled to be completed on November 10 when Brownell meets Sigma Nu. In a practice game the two clubs were deadlocked in a scoreless tie at the end of the regulation time of play.
Robert Parsons Recounts Experiences
In Missionary Field in West Africa

The Protestant Fellowship, at its regular meeting in Woodward Lounge on October 24, had as its guest speaker Dr. Robert T. Parsons of the Hartford Seminary Foundation. Dr. Parsons has recently returned from the missionary field in Sierra Leone, West Africa. He recounted his experiences and the difficulties he encountered due to insufficient training in the language and culture of the people among whom he was to work.

In answering the question whether or not Christianity has needlessly re-planted good as well as bad in native cultures, Dr. Parsons said, "Change will come and is coming in Africa without the missionaries. The church has the responsibility to direct that change."

At the close of his talk, Dr. Parsons mentioned the four most effective ways of "reaching" the natives:
1. Medical aid, organization.
2. Modern agricultural methods, evening meetings.
3. Education for future leadership.
4. Silent Christian example.

This last, he explained, involves living like the natives and gradually showing them possible improvements. Actual preaching would come later.

Future meetings of the Protestant Fellowship will include a speaker from Abolition Anonymity and a joint meeting with a group from St. Joseph's College. Watch the bulletin board for further announcements; the next meeting will be held on November 7.

Hillel Foundation
Hears Lecture by Outstanding Rabbi

On Tuesday, evening October 24, the Hillel Foundation of Trinity held its third meeting of the season. Guest speaker was Rabbi Abraham J. Feldman, who is the spiritual leader of Temple Beth Israel in West Hartford, is one of the outstanding rabbis in all of New England. He was formerly the president of the Central Conference of American Rabbis, which is the National reformed rabbis' organization. As his topic for the evening he chose, "A Survey of the First Half of the Twentieth Century in Terms of Jewish History."

He stated that "Even though this period was a catastrophic one for the Jewish people, especially because of World War II, during which forty per cent of world Jewry was slaughtered, it was also a very great and creative period. Probably the most outstanding single occurrence during this era was the forming of the state of Israel, towards which the Jewish people had been looking for close to 2000 years."

Engineering College Redecorates
Trinity Tripod Office

The offices of the Tripod have been completely redecorated recently by the college, under the supervision of property manager, Louis Wallace. The ceiling has been given a coat of white paint, and the walls of the two rooms have been painted a light green.

In addition to the redecorating, a number of pieces of sturdy furniture have been added. More is expected to be added within the next few days. At the beginning of the year, the paper also was given the use of three used typewriters of pre-war manufacture.

Tripod Sobs

Getting out a newspaper is a job. If we print jokes, students say we are silly; if we don't, they are too serious. If we publish nude matter, they say we lack year--if we publish things from other times, they say we are too far-sighted. If we stay in its five, we ought to be out running ternals. If we're out running toms, we are not attending to hat is the office. If we wear old clothes we are insolent college students; if we wear new ones, we get the ice from our gift. What the thing in supposed to do, anyway? In that some will say we swept this, an exchange. We didn't.

The following is a directory of the Tripod editors. Students having questions or for other business concerning the paper will be served by one of them:
