Medusa Advises Censure for Students
Guiding of Sophomore Hop Misconduct

By Dick Yenman

The Medusa published Monday night that a Trinity student be put on censure as a result of actions at the Sophomore Hop.
Specifically, he was found guilty of inexcusable or disorderly conduct. Called before the college disciplinary body, he admitted to being guilty of the charges.
College regulations warn that instatiation and disorderly conduct are considered serious offenses and may result in expulsion.

Admits To "Crashing"

The offender in this particular case also admitted that he had been one of several guys "crashing" the dance during the evening.

As a result of the Medusa's action, the convention will be forwarded to the Committee on Student Organizations, which sends formal notification to the offender. He then has 48 hours in which to appeal the sentence to the Senate, the final court of appeal.

Second Censure Means
Calling in of the Police

Concerning the bulletin board, notification of parents or guardians, loss of unexcused cut attendance and loss of the primary services of the college for particular activities, including athletics.
A second censure incurs automatic discipline from college authorities.
Partly as a result of this case, the Senate has now completed the continued work of a number of first-year students to stages for formal college dances. They also recommended that a "rolling censure" be voted on, giving the door and admit to the dances.

McGinley of 'Times' To Speak Tuesday

The Hartford Times sports editor and columnist, Arthur B. McGinley, will speak at Trinity tomorrow night.
This follows his appearance this last Fri­ sday, originally Goodwin Lounges, has been confirmed.
He will be here to talk on sports writing in general to the Tripped freshmen and any other members of the student body who are interested in, or curious about, the world of sport.
Mr. McGinley is well-known throughout Connecticut as a tonearmaker.
He has covered the Hartford sports scene for many years and is not spite of arthritis in both hands he still writes two daily columns for his paper.--"Good Afternoon--A Personal Chat With Art McGinley" and "The Spors Vista."

First Issue of Review Published in December, Says Announcer

ing December.
A number of articles and stories are already in preparation for the

These other issues will be published general issue will appear in April.

Water Sewage Puts Donna in Durance

Water seeping into the electric cable going to the new library was the cause of lights going out all over campus last Wednesday night.
Part of the lighting system went out of commission at about 4:30 Wednesday afternoon, and the remainder ceased working at 7:30. Although some of the illumination was restored at 9 p.m., most of the lights were out all night.
College authorities did all they could to get the electricity back as soon as possible, and emergency service is still being given to a portion of the campus.
Repercussions of the power failure were many. Robert Douglass exhausted candy supply ten minutes before the lights went out, and all of the local movie houses received more than their usual quota of Trinity men.
Jean and Henry's over the rocks also was saved. Although the two men briefly lost track of their dates.

Many of the girls at the dance had been here for the Friday night fro­ romantic parties, the pop rally, and the Middlebury game on Saturday. The tee from the Sophomore Class, cul­

$50,000 Set As Goal
For Alumni Fund

The secretary of the Trinity class agents last Friday, $50,000 goal to pay for the college salary in­ at the end of the year, announced by the Alumni Fund Office.

The fund is to be solicited by the class agents, Hugh S. Campbell, national alumni association president, who made the announcement, told the fund raisers that "in the academic world, just as in the business world, the law of competition persists and money attracts talent."

He added that business recognizes that their greatest single asset is manpower while government "knows that conscious and talent hungry." Both were at it, competing with colleges for academic talent.

Mr. Campbell presented figures on average income of physicians at more than $11,000, of lawyers at more than $8,000, and of college teachers at less than $4,000.

"This Waterman Speaks"

Professor Robert P. Waterman of the modern language department

Dean Arthur H. Hughes, acting

Candellor Advises Students to Apply for Draft Deferment Exam

"Those who have not yet taken the Selective Service Exam and are eligi­

in remarking on the exceedingly small number of students who have thus far signed up for the December test.
Only twenty-five men have signed up for the examination in contrast to the 200 who took it last May when it was first initiated. "Those who are in basic AEOFC are not necessarily exempted from the draft," commented Mr. Candellor. "These men should take the exams since they have no assurance that they will be admitted to the advanced AEOFC." he concluded.

The veterans' office has all applications and information concerning the test. Applications must not be postmarked later than November 5. The exams will be given on Thursday morning, December 15, at 9:00 a.m. here at Trinity. The College has been asked to distribute the Selective Service students. No preparation is necessary for the exam. The next will be given on April 24, 1961.

Froshtrip...

What has happened to the fresh spirit in the Class of '57? A great many freshmen of the largest class in Trinity history are either not participating at all, or participating in a rather lack of not only spirit, but tradition by their refusal to carry out one of the principal traditions of the college.

The Class of '52, now the Junior Class, was the first to break with tradition. They refused to wear the Dark of Distinction. The custom was generally accepted and with a few exceptions the freshmen were wearing the Dark. The Class of '53, however, were following the same custom in every sense of the word. There are also some who remember the chilly November evening before the Wesleyan game of 1949 when several fresh, two-hour shifts from ten o'clock in the evening until two the next afternoon brought a blustery blast while many of the Bishop's statue. Perhaps a few more will recall running around the track during half-time, talking about how they were going to wear their pajama bearing signs that read, "I didn't wear my beanie.""

Previous freshman classes have learned that wearing a beanie is a custom which has a practical value. The dinke enables the freshman to recognize the members of his class and also to carry on conversations in identification.

In past years the freshmen all sat together at football games. Their private cheering section was a source of abundant noise with self-appointed cheer-leaders directing the fun. Now, only a few men of '52 sit together.

This is the situation, however, lies as much with the sophomore class as with the freshmen. The seniors have neglected to the proper manner of on-turf the custom; the Medius has put up numerous edicts on the bulletin boards, but with little effect.

The custom of the freshmen is contrary to the offensive of the Freshman of old.

The baseball classes are to continue wearing beanie and observing the other traditions—not only now, but in the future. Freshmen of the present season are beginning to show that compulsory adherence to their traditions is enforced. Otherwise the beanie should be dropped.

Girls Offer ‘Advantages’

While some men escape over everything from the sickness of the Constitution to the ceiling price of sweet potatoes, Senator Benton, Democrat of Connecticut, is the voice of a more delicate nature: the urge to play versus surreal forces.

Discussing the relative merits of campus recreations on Saturday afternoon, he claimed that girls certainly offer "advantages" over either football and playacting.

"At any rate," said the Senator, who has criticized overemphasis of the college football, "girls offer advantages over either football and playacting.

The entire problem arises from Benton's observations in Norway. On Saturday afternoon Norway college played a men's game, a men's game, a men's game. American boys, he said, would be watching football games.

Fishing

Another Big Weekend is now history. John Davernport and the Soph Hop Committee have handled their duties admirably. It is irking to note, however, that the genital tone of the Hop was marred by the blatant inhumanity of our Sadistic Student Council.

We have had our differences with the Hartford Club before. The actions of a few students may have been partly responsible for some of the irritation we, as a group, have suffered. The conduct of students at Saturday's dance was exemplary except for the antics of one or two louts. The most flagrant display of the Trinity body as evidenced by a number of specific violations of standards of good taste, is inexcusable. We have not been any great gypsy camping around town during the course of the show. The majority of students were in student conduct. The Hartford Club waiters and porters need not assume the responsibility of watching.

In a few sentences... Instead of cooperating with their "guests" in the personal search for missing chairs, Hartford Club employes went out of their way to engage the sympathy of the show. At this time our employment was required. "Why should | help... last time I didn't get anything for me..."

Contrary to the club's previous agreement with the Hop Committee to serve the faculty patron at the expense of the sophomore class, waiters were evidently rehearsed, if not obvious in having their own way—G.O.D. as always.

Waiters would think nothing of not only demanding tips, but were explicit in their announcements of what constituted a proper tip and when to open it. One unsuspecting Trinity never saw his change after giving waiter ten dollars in payment of a seven-dollar check.

When 1:00 A.M rolled around attendants blandly opened the windows wide to announce closing time. How subtle can we get?

We can ask that the Hartford Club get out of its way to solicit Trinity's business. But it strikes us that this cheap display of rudeness is inconsistent with the tradition of the Club.

Whether the Hartford Club has us over the proverbial barrel or not with regard to our finding a suitable substitute for our formal is a moot question.

It is a fact that the shift in the next track cannot secure the management's promise of a quick change for the better, it took elsewhere.

The matter of finding another home for our college dining will remain without its problems. Of the alternatives the Trips has checked into the Hotel Bond Ballroom, along with all of the local country clubs, is too small, the Hartford Armory too large, the West Hartford Armory is certainly fine, but the field house doesn't have a floor. We find ourselves left with the possible alternatives of Alumni Armory and the Club.

A seating and dancing capacity of 850, an estimate price was unofficially quoted to a Trips reporter at $100 as compared to the cost of the Hartford Club.

At least a change might provide the possibility of being treated as mature individuals!

Speaking of PE...

The Fetid Air

By Henry Eckford, II

Marsh as I hate to admit it, there are better journalists in this college than I. In the opinion of some of my classmates and here by no means I mean myself there must be some doubt in this world of words and the work of a college, one Bob Klinehans, who wrote the following—\"B. E.\"

"I am now an athlete and I am trying to praise the PE department, because I have heard a lot of people around campus saying no to the PE department because they do not like it. "Somebody?" I am not afraid to say I think PE is united because their experience as other people why is it such a good thing for everybody to take PE. And who can say that they understand that more? ME!" So this there is.

I WANT THE PE DEPARTMENT

The PE department is a good thing. Why? you ask me! I tell you why. Physical education is an integral part of our lives we get to college, and we get out. In the first place it keeps our bodies strong and healthy, which is a good thing, right? And then it also keeps "us on our toes," wish is also a good thing. I guess we all know how lousy and constipated we feel sometimes when we don't do PE, and that proves how good we feel when we do PE.

In the second place, PE gives us all a outside interest, like a hobby, except only PE is better, because it is good for you, which is good. When we get out of college after you have completed the PE requirements you can place a whole ton of things, with the one reason PE is "tongue" in my book.

PE teaches you teamwork with is a good thing to know. When you get out of college you will have to learn to get along with other people, and if you have any problems with each other, that where teamwork comes in. Because how can you have a good a long with a single person. Some guys say that they don't like PE, and they are all the time grinning, but I say to them "Don't feel that way." PE is an integral part of our lives and we get to college, when I mean to the form the all around guy who we all strive to be.

Faculty, Students Discuss Importance of British Vote World-Wide Relations

By Stan Newman

In last week's election Britlrians again chose Win- ston Churchill as their leader. What are the significances of the results to American relations or in British-world relations?

In the opinion of Professor Cooper of the History Department, the general election in Britain does not have the effect of changing America's or the other American relations was suggested in the past few days. Knowing his interest in British History and his acquaintances England he believes that the election means the end of socialism over there.

Bowdoin DU Chapter Quits Its National

In another move by a fraternity chapter to end discrimination, the Delta Upsilon chapter at Bowdoin College has withdrawn from the national organization in order to enroll a Negro as a brother.

The D. U. constitution itself does not discriminate as to race or religion, but alumni of the chapter are entitled to blackshank pledges. Using this power, a Bowdoin alumnus voted against the Negro, former president of the freshman class, who had been pledging DU since September, 1950. Determined to admit the boy, the chapter voluntarily withdrew from the national organization and formed the Delta Club of Bowdoin College.

This is one of many moves made during the past few years to alleviate discrimination in fraternities.

College to Participate in 1951 Crusade For Freedom on Campus Next Week

During the week of November 5, those connected with Trinity will again participate in the Crusade for Freedom program by signing freedom mailing available on campus.

Last year, the Crusade for Freedom, an American people's challenge to world communism made possible the World Freedom Bell, erected in Berlin as a permanent symbol of free men's determination to resist suppression and containing the signatures of participating Americans.

The contributions of the American people also go to Radio Free Europe, the most powerful transmitter in the free world. The giant station, which went on the air in May, 1951, was beamed exclusively to Czechoslovakia in direct competition with Kremlin-controlled Radio Prague and Radio Bratislava.

This year, the Crusade for Freedom intends to provide at least two more powerful transmitters for Radio Free Europe and to establish a Freedom-station in Asia to stop the spread of communism in the Far East.

THE SEA HORSE

Well...! That's a sea horse of a different color!

This little pre-pee was all at sea. It was enough to upset his equine-ity. He'd been reading about those rush-rush cigarette tests the quick stiff, the fast puff. "Hardly the scientific approach, " he said in his confusion. But then he realized that one test is an equine of a different pigmentation—a thorough, conclusive test of cigarette mildness.

It's the sensible test...the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke—on a day-after-day basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why...

STUDENT UNION BOOKSTORE
Trinity's freshman football team rolled to its first victory of the season, a 20-6 decision over Monson last Saturday. From the opening there was no doubt as to which was the superior team; after a series of long runs and passes, quarterback Lou Magelane hit Frank Solomita in the end zone for the day's first score. Frank Lentz added the extra point, and the score was 7-0.

Magelane Passes Again
The second quarter opened with Monson in possession of the ball on their own 40-yard line, but on the first play Trinity recovered a fumble. The offensive platoon then began to show their power. After several short gains Kit Morgan broke through to the Monson 10-yard stripe and set up a second touchdown pass, this one from Magelane to end Ed Lindemeier. Lentz's extra point meant that both teams had graduated, and it will be hard to average line weight in Japan is small size.

Tommy Sugihara, the very popular left halfback of the freshman football team, contrary to popular belief, was born in the United States. He left this country from Otoya, New Mexico for Japan, in 1941, at the age of thirteen. During his ten-year stay in Japan, "Sugi" attended St. Paul's College where he played four years of varsity football. He was also an excellent student in Economics. For three years Tom starred at left half for the varsity, but in his senior year, he switched to quarterback.

As a result of his outstanding play, he was selected as first-string left halfback for three straight years in the annual East-West game of Japan. After returning to the country this year, Tom decided to go to Trinity. Like most Trinity students, he picked Trinity because of its high scholastic rating, and also because of the school's friendly attitude of the boys and faculty.

When asked about the differences between American and Japanese football, Tom said just one word, "Size." The average line weight in Japan is 160 pounds, and the backfield average is 140 pounds. American rules are enforced in all college games. Most of the teams have switched from the single wing to the "T" and "wings-T" formations. Although Tom likes the United States, he expects after completing his education, to return to Japan, where he hopes to be of help in the education field.

The opening game is against M.I.T. on Thursday, as the American took full advantage of it by scoring on a beautifully executed 60-yard hook-and-field run. Trinity added their last score in the fourth quarter. Magelane hit Ben Fisher with a pass that netted 40 yards. Tom Sugihara then took the ball to the 10, and John Burton backed into paydirt. Lentz's extra-point attempt was wide, promising.

Varisty Basketball Practice
Varsity basketball practice began last week, as Coach Ouston went through fundamentals during the first two practice sessions.

Of the lettermen from last year's team, Charlie Wizn, Bruno Chistolini, Wally Nocak, Bob Wheathead, and captains Dave Smith are back to head this season's squad. Many newcomers were also there for the opening sessions, with Charlie Mazurek, Don Puri, and Art Rathbun the most promising.

The main problem confronting Coach Ouston is finding a playmaker, or a key man to run the team on the court. Bob Bachen, last year's captain, filled this job expertly, but he has graduated, and it will be hard to find a replacement.

The opening game is against M.I.T. on December 5, and regular practice sessions will be held in preparation for this contest.

The Trinity forward wall had nearly a half-time margin to 35-13.

Trinity tacklers converged, he pivoted behind fine blocking as he raced all the way for Middlebury's second touchdown. Hum DelMastro's squaring loose and Castellani boosted fast enough to recover Middlebury's second fumble on their 31. Two plays after Al Magnoli's open-ended pass to AI Magnoli to again come within reach of scoring territory, DelMastro succeeded, setting the ball down at the Middlebury twenty.

In those days of two-picton football, the defensive team ran sometimes he called the "ignored eleven," sportscasters and newspapers alike are more interested in the spectacular design of the offenses. But every once in a while a defensive halfback is more outstanding than the offenses, and that happened at the Trinity-Middlebury game last Saturday.

Hum Castellani, defensive line backer, almost singlehandedly ruined the Middlebury attack. He intercepted and ran back three Panther passes, matched a loose ball away from the

DelMastro Runs 39 Yards

Six plays after Al Magnoli's opening kick-off return to the 31, DelMastro cut inside tackle and was off for 39 yards and the first touchdown. Bill Vibert converted, as he did after all six scores, to run his extra-point total to 6 in four years.

On the second play from scrimmage Middlebury's single-winged offensive unit tried a back lateral, but the ball squirted loose and Castellani booted the score to 14-0. Dick Aiken kicked off again, and this time Middlebury back Dick Allen took no chances on a fumble. He turned it back to the middle of the field, the Trinity tacklers converged, he pivoted and raced 85 yards down the sideline without a helping block or a hand being laid on him.

The ball settled into a defensive duel until the opening minutes of the second period, when Magnoli capped a 50-yard march by going over from the six. Dick Worthington took Aiken's ensuing kick on his 14, eluded several tacklers cut-out to the sidelines behind fine blocking as he raced all the way for Middlebury's second touchdown.

DelMastro was responsible for the final score of the half, intercepting a pass on the 50-yard line and running it back to the three. He scored on the next play, pushing the half-time margin to 55-15.

Acolonial Blocks Kick

Trinity, shut out in the third quarter, scored only once in the third despite Castellani's two interceptions. The Trinity forward wall had nearly broken through to block punts several times, and this time Bernie Bogoski succeeded, setting the ball down on the Middlebury twenty.
