Noted Economist A. Neal To Lecture Here Tonight

Talk Sponsored by College Associates

Dr. Alfred C. Neal, First Vice President of the First National Bank of Boston, will open the Trinity College Associates' luncheon series at 12:15 o'clock in the Chemistry Auditorium.

A noted economist and former faculty member of the University of Chicago, Dr. Neal will discuss "The Transition in the Economy of New England" in the first of four winter luncheons to be held by the authorities on the New England economy.

The series is the first project of the Trinity College Associates, a newly-formed partnership of Central Connecticut corporations with Trinity College in the investigation of areas of common interest. The lecture series represents an opportunity for business leaders to graduate and undergraduate economics students to examine current regional problems in economy.

Some 500 invited guests are expected to attend the opening lecture, including leading executives of 18 major corporations, representatives of other area companies, the Trinity faculty and students.

Dr. Neal was graduated from the University of Chicago. He has had two years at Harvard and 20 years of graduate work at London University. In 1917 he joined the faculty of Brown University as an instructor. In 1918 he joined the staff of the Office of Price Administration, serving as an associate director of the OPA's War Administration. In 1934 he became director of research for the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston. He became an associate professor of economics in 1939, and was named first Vice-President of the University of Chicago in 1950.

Dr. Neal is a prolific writer and editor of several books in the field. He is a member of the American Economic Association, the Eastern Economic Association, the Southern Economic Association and the Academy of Sciences of the American Economic Association.

Newman Club Listen To Boston Grid Star

Lon Montgomery, a former Boston College football star, spoke to the Newman club yesterday at 5:30 p.m. Mr. Montgomery reminded the club of the principle that the principle of racial discrimination is enshrined in the Catholic doctrine.

Montgomery told the club of his experiences as a Negro in the South when Boston College played in the Sugar Bowl. A veteran of several years of social work, Montgomery is now employed by the Royal Typewriter Company.

The Newman Club has added a series of pamphlets to its lending library, including "Red Book," which is available for purchase or loan.

G.E. To Match Gifts To Nation's Colleges

Any gift up to $100,000 made by an employee of the General Electric Company in the United States in 1955 will be matched by the General Electric Education and Training Department, it was announced recently.

The matches of the fund have voted $250,000 to start the program and to provide an additional gift by the company of $25,000,000 to be made to the college of the employee's choice.

The educational fund itself has been described in the past as a "multi-million dollar fund."

Frosh Vote on Class Officers; 14 in Running

College Personnel Visit Alumni Groups

The freshmen class voted their officers today under the supervision of the Senior Student Body President, Mr. Joseph K. Fetscher. The results will be posted tomorrow morning.

Mr. Fetscher said that since there was a tie for fourth place in the Senate proportions, George Butch, Bob Courage, Frank O'Regan, Bob O'Sullivan, John Leader, Edward Doane and Alonzo Martin were in the tie vote.

In a special meeting last Thursday, the Senate voted to change the method of submitting petitions in class elections. In all future elections, petitions must be submitted at a specific time and place of the student body's choosing. This method will be posted by the senate body for the whole school to hold. These changes have been made because these petitions were apparently lost by the school office.

Builders of Chapel Honor Student

The announcement of G. E. O. November 12,41 sixty-four members of the Trinity College Chapel Builders Association were honored at a banquet last Sunday in the aid of the President's College.

The student body is the highest award that can be made to the senior class. The school administration and the faculty members were present for the twenty-annual banquet.

The men were led on a tour of the chapel to see it take on structure, floor, and nave. A special service was then conducted by Rev. Dr. O. J. O'Sullivan, Father of the Chapel, who will soon celebrate his eightieth birthday.

The chapel was the central focus of the event, which was attended by the president of the college, Dr. J. O'Grady, who was a member of the college management board.

The Trinity College Chapel was named in honor of the late Mr. John J. O'Sullivan, who was a member of the college management board.

"Cap" To Be Eighty; Says No Retirement

By STEVE BOWEN

One of the most prominent figures on campus in college postmaster Cap was 80 last Sunday, and "Cap," who will celebrate his eighty birthday on January 22nd, has not retired.

He was in a section of the city called "Cap's corner," which is within the vicinity of the ancient landmark.

He has been a part of the city for 45 years.

Before going to work for the Cap, he played professional baseball with the Harvard team and also with a team in upper New York State.

He has been the captain of the Harvard varsity team.

The present post office has been brought back into life in the ancient landmark.

Once a month, and not at any particular time, he has been present at the post office.

Before going to work for the Cap, he played professional baseball with the Harvard team and also with a team in upper New York State.

The Cap came to Trinity in 1945. He has been in charge of the post office for the past six years.

The Cap has been a proud and familiar figure in the community for many years.

Mr. Cap's name is known to every student in the school, and he is always friendly and helpful to all who come to the post office.

Fear Flu Epidemic: Dr. Lundberg Urges Vaccine

"All students should have influenza vaccination while they are in school. The issue is too important to overlook," said Dr. Lundberg yesterday by Dean Clarke and Dr. Longwell. They stated that "in the next five days everyone who is in school should be inoculated." The next night, before the students leave campus, the vaccine will be given again.

"Since mid-year exams are so soon after Christmas vacation, we do not want any students suffering from influenza at a time when they are important. We are advocating the vaccination of all students by their own physicians to prevent any influenza that might be brought back to the campus after vacation, when the students will be most susceptible," said Dr. Longwell.

The State Board of Health has added the college to the list of schools to which the vaccine is being distributed.

THE CHRISTMAS EDITORIAL

As this is the last issue of the Tripod to be published before Christmas, we again are sorting to the tradition of a Christmas Editorial. It may appear somewhat coldblooded to admit that this writing is inspired only by tradition, but after all, what can the Editorial Board of the Trinity Tripod say which would really be significant about Christmas?

We might say that Christmas is a season of rejoicing and hope. We could say that we look forward to a strengthening of Christian faith in the year to come. We could say that we hope every individual during the season will look beyond the economics and sentimentalities of American Christmas and will get a glimpse, no matter how slight, of the overpowering significance of the Day. We could say a great many things, but they have been said before, and by more powerful voices than ours. At best we can only echo those voices, adding to the heap of unnecessary words. But we hope that our faint echo is not resented, and that perhaps some few will appreciate our Christmas Editorial—even if it is only inspired by tradition.

TRUE SPIRIT

In a magnificent effort to abide by the laws of the college, an unidentified student ascended up to the library last Sunday night, jumped out of his car leaving the engine running and the handwriting off, to return a book before 10 o'clock deadline. The car, a blue '51 hardwood Plymouth, rolled down the hill by the tennis courts where it finally came to rest with one side flattened against a tree. Such fine examples of consideration for one's school should place Trinity among the most spirited colleges in the country.

STUDENT ASSEMBLY

In spite of the backing of the Senate, the administration, and this newspaper, the Student Assembly yesterday was not as well attended as it might have been. True, the week has been rushed with an overload of exams before Christmas, but the length of the assembly was less than half an hour and we do not feel that time was significant in deterring students from attending.

The talk that Dr. Jacobs gave was significant and interesting. In it he reported the progress of the Development Program and the rising position of Trinity in the community. Help administration continues to present these programs on an infrequent basis whenever something significant arises that the college believes should be explained, we think that the least the students can do is to refrain from their lethargy for the moment and attend. Any attempt to draw an audience by issuing chapel credits defies the purpose of the assembly, which is for the benefit of the students.

THE FETID AIR

BY OMAR ECKKIR

We think that we have mangled Christmas pretty well for the past two weeks, so there remains only one other holiday of the season to write about. This of course is New Year's. We won't say much about the day, but will confine ourselves to a few predictions for the coming year.

We predict diets happening for 1955. Aside from the expected Russian invasion, we predict the final crumbling and collapse of Javelin Physic Labs. We got lost in the basement of this building last week, and were shocked to find that the only thing holding the structure erect is a heap of decaying sandwich crumbs which have accumulated through the past several years. Presumably they were dumped through a convenient hot air vent by local students.

We predict that the Borden Ice Cream Company will have labor problems—which will result in a disgruntled employee substituting crushed rock for the butter-crunch in that particular flavor. This will in turn ruin the teeth of nearly all of the Trinity faculty, who will be forced to subsist on soft foods—thereby reducing their intellectual and physical vitality.

There are only two of the more important happenings which will grace the New Year. We are certain of these and others. How? By the shape of the bruise on the fascinating thigh of that woman in last week's Life Magazine—one who was hit by the meteor. Just wait doubters, just wait!

Frosh "Jesters" Double-Bill

The freshmen are very active in the Jesters this year and are coming up for the moment and attend. Any attempt to draw an audience by issuing chapel credits defies the purpose of the assembly, which is for the benefit of the students.
Letters Encourage Review Board; Editor Asks for Material, Ideas

"The Trinity Review is grateful for the encouraging letters and compliments which have been coming from students, faculty and subscribers," stated Editor-in-Chief Jerold Hatfield in a Tripod interview yesterday. Stated Hatfield, "No one knows better than the board of editors how much effort has gone into the improvement of the magazine; however, they are the last people who are apt to be satisfied with the results. The Review has come a long way, but it has a much greater potential if the gaunlets at Trinity are willing to give it the support it needs.

"It needs help in soliciting material, and everyone is in a position to know about the writing that is being done at Trinity, whether for classwork, or merely for the writer's own amusement. Whether it's his roommate, his fraternity brother, or the fellow who sits next to him in class, every student can do much toward encouraging his friends' writing and interest in being work published." Hatfield also pointed out that the Review needs ideas: ideas for special features articles, ideas for making sure interesting issues; ideas for encouraging writing among the student body; and ideas for practical matters like obtaining advertising and subscriptions.

"Another need of the Review," said Hatfield, "is for some helping hands and a constant flow of suggestions. Each of us has one of a thousand routine tasks that go into producing an issue of the magazine. Last Minute Fouls

Top Blue and Gold

With a record of one win and one loss behind them, Coach Ray Oosting and his spirited Bantams against W.P.L. last Saturday at the latter's court. The contest was nip and tuck right down to the win as the home team eked out the win on four foul shots in the last nine seconds. The final count read 61-58.

First Hal} Sluggo

Worcester opened fast as the Blue and Gold had trouble getting their attack going. Preissner and Vincent were the most effective scorers for the visitors while Earl Bloom was hitting well for the home five. In general, the first half was slow and the offenses of both teams were sloppy. Trinity trailed 27-25 at the intermission.

As the second half got underway, the visitors forced shots by Preissner and Barton cut the lead to three points. Dave Roberts added a charity toss and then hit with a long one-tander to even matters at 55-55. There was little over a minute to go.

Oh Those Fouls

Worcester forged in front by two, but a three pointer by Preissner gave the Blue and Gold a went 56-57 lead. Play now became very tense with the home squad missing four successive free throws. Nine seconds were left on the clock when Barton hit twice from the foul line and when Cheny and Norrick added single markers, it was all over but the shouting.

Barton Scores 24

Redmen Solve Zone

Last Thursday the Blue and Gold varsity met a strong Massachusetts quintet seeing their second victory in as many shots. The game was close throughout, but in the final five minutes Trinity fell apart and the Redmen ran off with a 76-61 victory.

Zone Fails

The first ten minutes were and for Trinity the victory determined then 18-4. The Redmen passed the Blue and Gold zone silly and scored for the most part on easy layups. Captain Roberts had a pair of field goals to lead his mates.

The remainder of the half saw Joe Barton get hot and Trinity picked up in the pace behind him. Behind 26-15, the home forces opened up. Nick Vin covered a 10 point spread then and Barton hit with his favorite push shot. Stan Lucia, then passed to Sam Ninius who drove through for a down and it was 29-21. Burke tipped it for Mar, but Lucia found the range with a long one-tander. Spyckett and Eld added field goals for the visitors, but Dave Roberts retaliated with a brace of charity throws and at the half it was 35-22 for Massachusetts.

Preissner Sizzles

The second half opened with Jack Preissner sparking an inspired Bantam front five with flashy shooting. The Redmen however were equally hot and maintained a six point spread at the ten minute mark.

The final ten minutes were fruitless for Trinity as they doggedly fought for a one point lead and then fell completely apart. Barton and Roberts hit for nine quick points and Trinity trailed 53-45, nine shots in favor for pretty heavy and Mass mowed trailed 54-3. Redmen too Strong

The visitors then plowed eight straight points home and after Barton retaliated with two one-handers, they came back with seven more for a 61-49 lead with two minutes to go.

Burke, Howard, and Spyckett then ripped off five more markers and all Trinity could garner was a free throw by Scotty Preissner. The final was 76-61.

The first appearance of the second string brought another blue ribbon as Morley won the 100 with Kent Slueth finishing a strong third. Franck delayed the climax of the meet winning the backstroke. He was trailed by Hugh Zimmerman and Bill McGill, Churchill just managed to outlast Mangels of Tufts in the 200 breaststroke. This was by far the most exciting race of the meet. Middies Fail by Single Game Bid for Complete Shutout

By Jim Crystal

The Trinity squad team officially opened their season last Saturday against a strong and heavily-favored Navy nine. The cause was no hope that only Dick McCrea was able to win a game. The Bantams put forth

With sophomores Bill Stout and George Kelleher gaging the attack, the Trinity Jayvees romped over the Watkin School 68-42 last Saturday at the fieldhouse. Kelleher scored 19 nancies while Stout was just two points behind his teammate.

First Half Close

After batting on even terms early in the contest, the home squad broke a three point lead and gradually enlarged it until it was 3-0 with 4:10 left in the first half. After that the Middies gradually increased their lead, and immediately before the half the Bantams took their best efforts, but they were in vain as the Middies won 8-6.

In the number one match, Dick Jew-sett was屈予 2-6 by Smith of Navy in a contest that was never close. Trinity's Captain Wade Gold managed to gain early leads in two of his three games, but he also fell by the wayside as Ritchie shot him out. The next five men in order were unable to gain a game at the hands of their opponents as the Midshipmen forged a 7-6 lead. Brookes Hartley lost to Lynch, Bob Baker was beaten by Clark, Dave Hamilton was the victor of Vlamen, Chris Percy met defeat at the hands of Gold, and Nat Reed bowed to Ringer.

McCrea's match was easily the best of the afternoon. Whereas it went to only four games, the two men were constantly engaged in long volleys that kept the gallery on its toes. The games were 1-4 and then Clearwater pulled away winning the last two. The final match saw Bob Courson lose to Parker in three straight.

WITH DYKE SPEAR
The political ramifications of the McCarthy- Eisenhower split are somewhat more complex than a mere personality clash. Eisenhower has long been famed for his ability to develop a co-ordinated effort from divergent forces, but the extreme position of the Republican right wing represented a philosophy that even Eisenhower found untenable. At best, Eisenhower accepted McCarthy's support with mixed feelings. Now that the inevitable break has occurred, it will eventually widen until a clear political divide has as New Jersey, New York, and...
