ICF Warns Frosh About Illegal Rugby Penalties

To the Freshman Class:

Because of alleged illegal rugby being written at the request of the Trijoded staff, the several articles relative to required Physical Education for veterans, appearing in recent issues of the Trijoded, have been criticized by Dr. Samuel Morse, assistant professor in our English department. Mr. Morse was born in Massachusetts, but he looks upon Maine as his home. Educated in Bowdoin and Harvard and receiving his Ph.B. from Boston University, he taught at Harvard and the University of Maine before coming to Hartford. Married to the former Jane Crossley, he has a year-old son and Mr. Morse is not teaching any undergraduate courses this semester as he is engaged in further work on the writings of Samuel Morse, the famous Hartford poet, who died last year.

Mr. Morse's verses are not easy to read; they refuse to yield to the rigid rules, and are providing a stir for our free society.

The ICF has decided to provide a deal of room for improvement in the constitution of the ICF has gained the solidarity and integrity which only age can give. It is edifying to see at last that organization has done some thinking about this problem.

We are happy to learn that the freshmen as well as the fraternity men involved in the incident referred to above are brought before the ICF. We believe that the freshmen have an equal right to be disciplined if they violate these regulations.

An amount of necessity be general in order to be applicable to every situation. Because of this a specific incident requires interpretation. Dr. Morse's rules are general ones which the ICF is to interpret the spirit of its rules as they relate to physical education. As far as possible, we believe, is one which involves a tremendous amount of careful thinking and responsibility, especially in view of the fact that when ever the ICF makes an interpretation it sets a precedent which future ICF's will follow.

In the past, there have been several cases of illegal rugby brought before the ICF. The punishment dealt out as a result of these trials has never affected the freshman involved. The ICF has set a precedent in this latest incident—a precedent which we hope they will sincerely adhere to. We believe that the règles-verts having to wait a full year before joining a fraternity, he is just as responsible for observing and obeying the rugby rules as the fraternity men. This because of it is equally liable to the penalties mentioned for the establishment of these regulations. We heartily approve of the ICF's intention. The sincerity of that intention itself is not questioned.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY JOE

The Trijoded wishes to convey its sincere best wishes to Joseph C. Clarke, who will celebrate his fiftieth birthday on February 5th. Mr. Clarke has spent twenty-seven of these years serving Trin ity College in one capacity or another, and is an Associate Professor of Physical Education. He has carried the Trin ity banner while serving as a student president. He has held the following positions: Director of the Band, Head of the Board of Trustees of the Goodwill Boys Club of Hartford, and Chairman of the Water Commission of the Connecticut River.

Dr. Morse Writes Book of Verse; Termed “Disturbing”

The Scattered Causes: Dr. Samuel Morse May, 1956, An English Professor at Bowdoin College

Reviewed by Remington Rose

Recently published under the title of The Scattered Causes, a collection of poems by Dr. Samuel Morse, assistant professor in our English department. Mr. Morse was born in Massachusetts, but he looks upon Maine as his home. Educated in Bowdoin and Harvard and receiving his Ph.B. from Boston University, he taught at Harvard and the University of Maine before coming to Hartford. Married to the former Jane Crossley, he has a year-old son and Mr. Morse is not teaching any undergraduate courses this semester as he is engaged in further work on the writings of Samuel Morse, the famous Hartford poet, who died last year.

Mr. Morse’s verses are not easy to read; they refuse to yield to the rigid rules, and are providing a stir for our free society.

Just as the poet’s anger at macaroni, a metaphor of prehistoric art, the personal expression of a feeling, or even a striking image which may have been missed, something better grasped from a different perspective is the aim of the poet in the poems of The Scattered Causes. Morse seeks to begin a study of contemporary American verse; its subjective viewpoints and widely varied metaphors may make it difficult for the poet to persuade his readers to be rewarded by a curious and stimulating sense of understanding and, certainly, by the resolve to sharpen his senses and his insight.

Those of us who have studied under Mr. Morse have been rich in the information, engaging style, or even maintaining, creativity on an artistic level while concentrating upon academic study, and his belief that the possibility of such encouragement is convincingly illustrated by his work. Yet not only in The Scattered Causes, are there things missed, something better grasped from a different perspective, but even a striking image which may have been missed.

The writing of poetry is an art, and so, in a sense, is the reading of poetry. Mr. Morse seeks to persuade his readers to be rewarded by a curious and stimulating sense of understanding and, certainly, by the resolve to sharpen his senses and his insight.

Development Program to Seek 4 Million Dollars

Survey Discloses 5 Campaign Objectives

A $4,700,000 goal has been set by the Board of Trustees as the College's "Program of Progress." The development campaign was launched at the Board's annual winter meeting.

"The Program of Progress," stated President Jacoby, "will be the first major capital campaign for funds at Trinity since the 125th Anniversary Development Program in 1946." By strengthening the College's resources and by adding certain new tools of education, such as building and modern equipment, Trinity can perform a service of even higher caliber.

Robert S. Morris, '76, a Hartford businessman, has been chosen to head the National Committee as chairman. The Honorary National Chairman will be Walton W. Clement, '31, formerly Chairman of the Board of the Pennsylvania Railroad. He is also the author of "Pigeon Paradise."

A comprehensive survey of the College's needs was made as the primary step of the program and five objectives were decided upon. These are:

1. To lift faculty salaries to a competitive level and furnish the environment for creative thought.
2. To enhance student life by providing first-rate facilities for living and for extra-curricular activities.
3. To establish facilities for teaching physics and life-sciences by creating a modern laboratory building.
4. To bring a Trinity education within reach of superior young men unable to finance the whole out themselves.
5. Finally, to provide funds to replace annual giving during the campaign and for special non-recurring projects.

The campaign will be launched locally in late February, and in the Spring and Fall of 1956 will be expanded throughout other parts of the country.

New Exhibits Shown In College Library

As part of a Middle Ages series now sent out by Boston Museum of Fine Arts, the College Library reading room is exhibiting a pictorial display on Mysticism. The Museum will supply the College with a different exhibit on a section of Medieval life every two weeks from now through May.

The Berkshire Steel Company has placed a lighted board in the library lobby showing the wide range of operations the corporation is engaged in. This exhibit is to coincide with the visit of Mr. Horace Bohnett, company representative, who will be at Trinity February 15.

Harvard Dean Speaks On Ecumenical Advances

By Bill Rother

"The Discomfort of Being Ecumenical" was the topic of Dean Donald Horton, of the Harvard Divinity School, when he spoke before the Valentine Club on December 22. He started off his talk by saying that people today must come to understand others if they are going to be in the ecumenical movement.

The Dean's speech will be the starting gun of the movement which led to the World Federation of Churches, which has recently had its second meeting in Breslau, Ill.

The Federation of Churches such as the World Federation of Churches. The Dean Horton also said that he had visited in 1949-50 in Edinburgh with the meeting of the missionary leaders of six continents.

He pointed out two things we as individuals could do. First, understand our missionary work in India where the religious, who are united, and second, was to bring ourselves up to date on other religions.

Cagers Bow to Panthers For Second Loss in Row

Vermonton Victors In Lopsided Affair

The Bantam Cagers seemed to be in the midst of a mid-season slump this evening as they bowed to Middlebury by the lopsided score of 76-56. It was the 9th victory in 14 starts for the Panthers, bringing Trinity's second loss in a row after winning their first five games.

Accurate Shooting Spells Middlebury's Charlie Sykes and Jim Wagner set the pace in the first half with accurate shooting to cop the lead 16-16. Trim fell further behind, trailing at one point 27-20, but then put on a full court press to cut the lead to only a two-point margin, 33-31. That was the closest they got, for they would never come within five points of the Panthers going into the half, 44-40.

Johnny Hoppe led the Middlebury aggregation with 17 points followed Vincent closely by teammates Sykes and Wagner with 16 apiece. Center Bob Godfrey headed the Blue and Gold efforts.

Statistics

Narrow Point Gap

~Figures released recently show that the Bantam boosters are scoring a few more, but lagging behind in the 1964-65 season's point average. Middlebury leads only 24 of 36 total attempts while the Bantams got 16 out of 26, both for a 66% average.

This week the Bantams have two home games in the Memorial Field House. Union poses the opposition on Feb. 9th followed by Bates on the 11th before the Junior Prom Weekend. The efforts of the ailing basketball star are due to make a great boost to the following Bantams:

Steason Honored by Soccer Recognition

Ken Swanson, senior standout on the Blue and Gold soccer team during the past season, has been honored honorable mention All-America, it was announced last month.

Sieves Half of Goals

Swanson, a product of Hail High School, led the Bantams to a third-place finish last season by scoring half of the 12 goals amassed in the team's efforts during the fall. Two of the season's goals were cancelled, and Swanson failed to score in the Winter season due to an injury.

Other recent Trinity players to join the ranks of All-Americans were Pete Carbaugh and Nick Nutcher who were picked for the first team two years ago, and George Lunt who was chosen for the second team. The selections are made by the National Soccer Coaches Association.

First Team Members

The first team is comprised of Jim McGowan of Middlebury, and Jack Bartone of Bates. McGowan is a junior majoring in mathematics and a member of the Bantam soccer team. Bartone is a senior majoring in economics and a member of the Bantam football team.

Other Team Members

The second team consists of Nick Vincent of Bates, Dick Salamon of Middlebury, and John Swett of Trinity. The third team includes Jack Butch of Middlebury, Art Polk of Bates, and Team Total of 110.

As Trin Tankmen End Long Layoff

The Trinity tankmen resume activity after a three-week layoff when they engage Amherst in the field house pool tonight at 8:15 p.m.

Trinity coach Art Christ has called Amherst "probably one of the better clubs we will face this season," and he has indicated he expects a tough battle for his undefeated squad. The Trinity tankers have thus far divorced Tufts, 58-26, and the strong Boston team, 47-37.

Leading the Trinity parade will be co-captains Hugh Zimmerman and Don Scott, along with the high-scoring Walt Shannon and Ron Ross. Scott and Shannon star in the freestyle, while Zimmerman tops the backstroke and Ross is the leading diver.

Amherst will counter with strong ammunition. Bob Ritter set a new Amherst record in the Yale meet and tied the New England record in the 50-yard freestyle. Robinson (Snoopy) Hollister, captain of the squad who participiates in the backstroke and individual medley, has also been a strong scorer.

Although, loaded with potential, the Amherst squad has only two victories in five starts. In their opener they were thumped by Yale, 56-16, then dumped by the University of Connecticut, 48-44, last to Brown, 20-3, to Dartmouth, 26-07, and in their last start beat the University of Massachusetts, 47-40.

St. Thomas Invaders

St. Thomas Seniors will provide the opposition for the junior varsity basketeers Saturday afternoon at Seven o'clock as the visiting five attempts to find the winning combination.

Coach Roy Dath expects his charges will have plenty on their hands when they face the St. Thomas squad, as the Trinity freshmen recently had difficulty in downing them in a nip and tuck battle. Dath plans to use a starting lineup of Don Newing and George Robert at the forwards; Jerry Channel at center; and George Case and Bill Ables at the guard posts.

Before the exam break, the Jayvees moved to Wesleyan 56-43 and Nichols Junior Colleges 55-59, after losing their opener to Trinity Church.

Professors Means, Campo, Kurth, Klimczak Promoted

Dr. Blanchard Means To Head Philo. Dept.

The promotion of four professors, Dr. Blanchard Means, Dr. Michael Campo, Karl Kurth, and Dr. Walter Klimczak, was recently announced by President Jacoby.

Dr. Means has been named Bremser Professor of Philosophy, and will head the department when Dr. Harry Todd Castello retires in June. Dr. Castello has held the philosophy chair here since 1939.

Dr. Means has taught philosophy here since 1962, but was on leave of absence during 1963 and 1947 when he was a visiting fellow and lecturer in philosophy at Yale. Since 1964 he has been a Trustee of the Julius Hart Musical Foundation.

A relative newcomer to the Trinity faculty, Dr. Walter J. Klimczak has now been named Associate Professor of Mathematics. He was appointed after having been director of athletics assistant professor in 1964, having previously taught at Yale and at the University of Rochester. He did both his undergraduate and graduate work at Yale, receiving his doctorate in mathematics in 1948.

Recently Dr. Klimczak was given a grant by the National Research and Development Committee under the National Research Council to study a conversion problem in the theory of differential equations of an infinite order. The versatile professor also had a brief but successful baseball career. He was third baseman on the 1937 Yale team, then joined the ranks of the professionals as a catcher, playing for numerous minor league teams. In 1942 he was sold to the Philadelphia Athletics and ordered to report to spring training, but the doctor started a new career by existing in the Navy Air Corps in lieu of the glory of the baseball diamond. Taken seriously ill with tuberculosis shortly after entering the service, Dr. Klimczak has since had to forgo baseball for the textbook.

Karl Kurth, Jr., has been appointed Associate Professor of Physical Education. Mr. Kurth joined the Trinity faculty in 1962 as assistant professor of mathematics. He was appointed after having been director of athletics at the University of Rochester.

Born in Albany, N.Y., he grew up in Bayville, L.I. A member of the Springfield College Class of 1942, he was runner-up for the 157-pound New Eng

19 Students Dropped From College Roster

Nineteen students were required to withdraw from the College at the end of the Christmas Term, it was disclosed recently by Dean Joseph C. Clarke. The Dean also added that complete statistical analysis of grades and fraternity and class averages will not be available for two or three more weeks.

Of the nineteen students forced to withdraw from the College ten were required to do so as the result of academic deficiencies. Two of the men were freshmen, six are sophomores, and two were members of the junior class.

Seven men were suspended from the College for one semester for being on probation; two consecutive semesters.

One man was suspended for taking his second academic suspension in Physical Education. Another student was expelled for a semester for being delinquent in chapel attendance for the second consecutive semester.
