Princetonians Bicker Over Bicker System

For the first time in nine years the 100% Princeton University ‘Bicker’ has been challenged for the title of ‘Bicker’ by an all-campus doesn’t care if you are the Princetonian of the century. The title is open to all campus and ‘Bicker’ is to be decided by a vote of the entire campus.

The following is an excerpt from a letter to the Editor of the Daily Princetonian: “There is a term such things as an equivalent alternate to joining a club. If a person decides to bicker, and wants to join a club, then the offer of somewhat equivalent facilities cannot be lost with the fact that he was not accepted by the club, nor does it change the feeling that he was good enough for the club.”

Another statement: “If you’re not in a club, you’ve been rejected. You’ve got a stigma attached to you. So when it seems that you’re not going to get a bid you run around and try to find people to be your friend and help you get into a club... in the eyes of the club, you shouldn’t be short and non-athletic. You shouldn’t have gone to a public school where you ought to be a prep school graduate. You shouldn’t be on a scholarship. But the worst thing you can have is an intellectual and Jesuit.”

The bicker system is the one to the Freshman Club on the basis that it was a “Catch-all” and close to remain unaffiliated. A large number of them signed a statement stating, “I feel I have been discriminated against because of race or religion.”

The Daily Princetonian has had all responsibility in the matter; the Interim Committee is fully aware of the situation is in action.”

Poe is Subject of Barbieri
Club Talk Tomorrow Evening

"Edgar Allan Poe in Italian Lit­erature" will be the subject of Profes­sor Filippo Donini, cultural attache of Italy in the United States, when he speaks in the Library Conference Room tomorrow night at 8:15.

This is the first in a series of lec­tures presented by the Centre Bar­bieri Club at Trinity, organized under the auspices of the Barbieri Founda­tion to further the study of Italian. Dr. Donini, born in Rome in 1911, received his degree in literature from the University of Rome in 1932. He has since taught Italian at such insti­tutions as Trinity College, Dublin; the University of Algiers, and the University of Amsterdam. A specialist in Italian and Amer­i­can literature, he also has taught English in Rome and Trento.

At other times in his many-sided career he was librarian and curator of Keats' house in Rome; Director of the Italian Institute in Brussels; and assistant Di­rector of the Italian Institute in London.

Dr. Donini has published extensive­ly in academ­ic and literary Italian, contribut­ing articles in Italian, French, and English to such periodicals as "Il Mondo," Rome; "Rivages," Algiers; "Il Secolo," London; and "Dietache Varandi," Antwerp.

Princeton, Bicks...

(Continued from page 2) and the school paper points out that the College has the choice of ad­her­ing to the ideals of a great university or those of a country club. The ad­min­istration must either provide ade­quate social facilities for the "undes­irables" and others who are not part of the club system, or at least have the common decency to inform prospective applicants from lower-class minority groups that it has no place for them. If the first alternative is chosen, it is conceivable that the Princeton social system will gradu­ally lose its strangle-hold on the Uni­versity.

Princeton's difficulty is that the University condemns this discrimina­tory system, while it sanctions the economic theory learned in the class­room with the practical problems found in the business world.

The focal point of the meeting was the lecture, "Opportunities in the Field of Economics", given by the chairman of the economics department, Dr. Towle. As an introduction to his talk, Dr. Towle spoke out the rule of economics—citiz­en­ship as one of the keystone tools that is de­veloped from a liberal arts education.

Not much is known about this Stevens squad, except for the fact that they downed Pace last week by a healthy 108-72 score. The Jersey club had three men who registered double digits for the visitors.

Yalies Nip Shultsmen
Face Cheshire Friday

By RICK BOODMAN

After a disappointing loss to the Yale frosh, the baby Bantams play host to Cheshire Academy this Friday. Tip off time will be 4:00 p.m. Tonight's game will be an effort for their eighth victory against the perennially tough Leopards.

The prospects for a victory at Cheshire's expense are very good. The frosh will be at full strength with no injuries apparent. Doug Tansill has fully recovered from his sprained ankle and Ken Cromwell is back in his old form.

Nip and Tuck

Last Saturday the frosh went down to their third defeat of the season at the hands of the Yale froshmen. The last half was nip-and-tuck all the way. The Yalies were able to pull ahead in winning moments of the first half and led at that point 32-25. The second half saw Bill Sculli fall out with twelve minutes remaining with him went the Trinity hopes for a win. But Ken Cromwell took over and literally held the team together. The score continued to saw back and forth but the frosh were mastered enough to pull ahead. With two seconds remaining and one point down, George Tattersfield made the hoop with a desperation shot. The result was a heart breaking 10-9 defeat for the Trinity froshmen.

Cromwell High

The game was a bitter blow for the frosh. It was evident that the last time services of Bill Sculli were badly needed. Even so, Sculli was able to bucket 13 points. Cromwell played magnificently and was high man with 22. George Tattersfield and Bob Brundelner each had 8 points, with the latter doing a fine job on the boards. Doug Tansill also did a yeoman's job bringing down loose balls.

Hodges, Postma Shine

For Drowning Frosh

The froshmen swimmers are preparing for Monday's meet with Hope Grammar School of Wallingford. Hope offers the final tune-up for the meet with arch-rival Wesleyan on February 26.

Last Saturday a victory starved junior varsity group journeyed up to Westminster only to suffer their fourth consecutive defeat in five meets, 31-55. Leading the point-scoring for the Bantams were Chris Hodges who took first and third in the 100-yard breaststroke and diving respectively, and Pete Postma who splashed into second place in both the 100 yard butterfly and the individual medley. The fro-stylers, Coleman, Luhrs, Williams and Nicholas churned the waters to win the 100 yard relay in fine style.

The proposed constitutional structure would have five permanent committees: the Executive Committee, Educational Affairs Committee, Extra-curricular Activities Committee, Athletic Affairs Committee and Social Affairs Committee.

The Executive Committee would consist of the Senate officers and would meet regularly to discuss efficiency and coordination of Senate activities.

The expanded committee system would have members of the student body as well as Senators. Committees would consider proposals, study problems within their delegated areas, and report their findings to the Senate at large.

Thompson explained that the committee believes that student government should be the governing and administrative organization of student activities. While the Senate's powers are delegated by the administration and faculty, the development of student responsibility is essential to the growth of student citizenship, he stressed. "Student government can only be meaningful if it attempts to create student incentive to participate in extra-curricular and intellectual activities as part of the total Trinity education," concluded Thompson.

The new committee members were: Thompson, McDonald, Ken Lambert, Bob Bick, Fred Werner, Walt Graham and Marv Peterson.
